Frustrated with Gun Legislation - Filmmaker Fights Back

1st Film: "The 2nd Amendment - Let's Take it Back"

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Trenton NJ, Release: March 16th, 2020.

A New Jersey based USAF Veteran has launched an independent series of original short films designed to combat anti-gun rights rhetoric. The first film to launch is available now and titled: "The 2nd Amendment - Let's Take it Back", it can be seen now on YouTube: <https://youtu.be/dv6NOL6AeFQ> The film is part of a series featuring 41 average Americans, all of which volunteered their time because they believe wholeheartedly in the project. The film series crosses political, racial, and socio-economic lines to give regular citizens a voice and put a face to Americans who support Gun Rights. The film's writer/director, Anthony Smith states: "Bloomberg and other politicians have worked tirelessly to demonize a Civil Right that belongs to every American; I will make my best effort to humanize us at an equal level." The project was filmed in NJ at the Union Hill Gun Club and Gun for Hire range.

Smith's reason for undertaking the project in his own words: "My civil rights were unjustly attacked the moment NJ instituted a 10 round magazine limitation in 2018, and I felt as though something that to reach and influence millions needed to be done. This is my answer."

The entire film series is designed to transmit a positive message about Civil Rights that will reach average Americans through an organic grass roots sharing effort. The series took 5 months to film. "If you believe in the 2nd Amendment, and you're an average American - please share the video. I made this for all of us" stated Anthony Smith. The first release, titled: "The 2nd Amendment - Let's Take it Back" was created to convey the following 4 items:

- Put human faces to the 2nd Amendment and Civil Rights
- Encourage Americans to take possession of the 2nd Amendment - they are our rights, and belong to the people
- Make the statement that now is the time to take those rights back, because they are threatened like never before
- Leave the audience with the question: "How do we take our rights back?"

The short film was independently conceived, written, filmed, edited, and produced by Smith and is designed to leave people asking the question of "How? How do we take our rights back?" Smith goes on to offer his proposed solutions to the question via the film project's website: <https://2aproductions.com/solution/>

He states: "I want everyone to start thinking about these issues, to open up discussions on how to guarantee that every American has equal civil rights in all 50 states from birth until death. This constant struggle for our own basic rights, against a government that we finance with our tax dollars - must come to an end. We need to redefine the function of government at a base level. Government should safeguard Civil Rights, not legislate them into oblivion." In addition to the main website a GoFundMe page has been created to help facilitate future work: <https://gf.me/u/xn827w>
